

RIPLEY READS

Much Ado About Nothing: A Shakespeare Story By Andrew Matthews Recommended by Alex Preston

available in the reading room...

Week Commencing 11 December

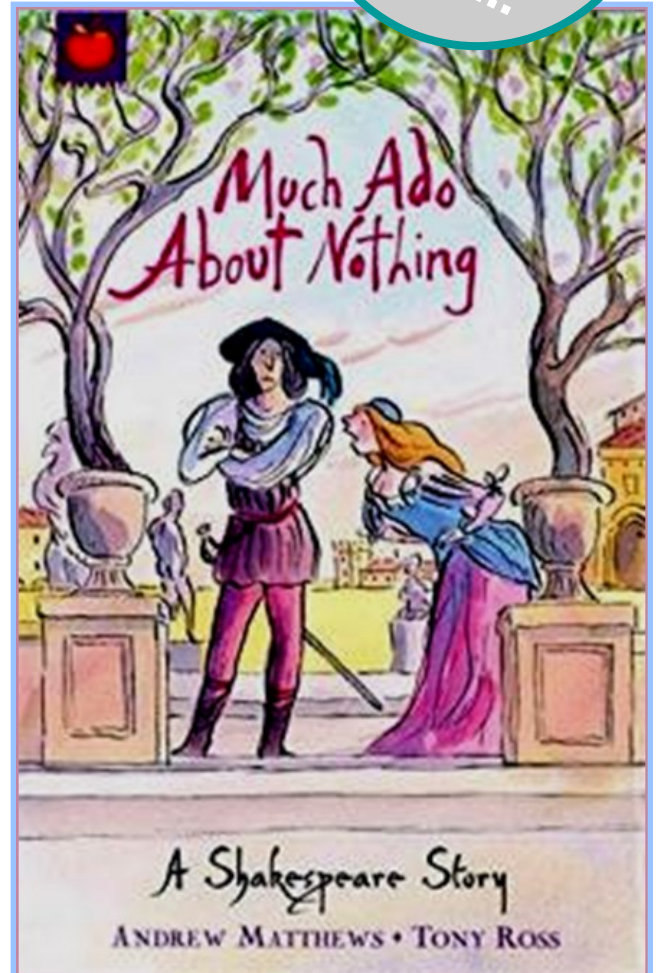

A lively retelling of Shakespeare's famous work.

This tale is about a group of friends with plots to bring two together and a group of enemies determined to tear two apart, without regarding truth or consequences.

As expected, drama unfolds and page by page you are drawn into a world that affects the hearts of many.

This tale has been retold using accessible language and with the help of Tony Ross's engaging illustrations the story is vividly brought to life allowing it to be shared with as wide an audience as possible.

With Notes on Shakespeare and the Globe Theatre.

the reading room...