The Sixth Form Dress Code reflects the values of the Ripley St Thomas community. A student's adherence to the Dress Code demonstrates respect for the ethos and learning environment. All places of employment have dress code policies. It is true that dress codes vary significantly between and even within sectors, however, as an employee, we must all comply with whatever rules are set. The dress code policy that follows has been created in consultation with current students and aims to reflect the context of the Ripley community and ethos.

Through appropriate dress, Sixth Form students act as role models for younger students and ambassadors for the school. The school's expectations are that students in years 12 and 13 understand that the Sixth Form is a serious learning environment and that they take a mature and responsible approach towards how they present themselves. This will ensure that their time with us is focused on reaching their goals for life beyond Ripley Sixth Form.

The purpose of this dress code is to maintain a professional appearance and mindset so that we can clearly separate our working week from our personal leisure and relaxation time. An additional benefit is the fact that students will have a good understanding of what to wear for university interviews, job interviews and apprenticeship assessments.

Students are asked to make appropriate choices of clothing from the list below. Clothing choices should be modest, respectful and in keeping with the traditional values and ethos of the Ripley St Thomas community.

All students choose items from the following list:	*Not allowed:
